

Cell at tip of root

Now we have a very good example of the little cell at the tip of the root of a tree... how it is so wise to avoid whatever is hard and to take to whatever is soft... and to invade the tree into the soil... it has that innate wisdom with which we also are endowed. Now you people don't misunderstand me so much as you used to... but still you do things which should not be done. To understand that whatever I tell you is for your ascent, you need a kind of a state of mind which is a detached mind. The detached mind is visible... very clear-cut in a person that he's neither very emotionally attached... and he's not very physically attached... but he sees that the progress of himself and of the society is the point... like the cell knows it has to progress for the betterment of the tree... but it has innate wisdom to do it in such a way that it never harms itself... and does not harm the tree. So the progress of a mind which one should develop, has to be such that you should move with a balance... with a witness state... and see for yourself how far you should go... and how far you should not go. Going to extremes is not Sahaja Yoga style... ascent is (850310)
