

Cosmopolitan

Sahaja Yoga is such a cosmopolitan thing - we have from the worst bhoots to the highest, on the same plate. Some are round, the ego oriented ones, and they roll down when the plate is raised. Some are square, and are carrying others on their heads like bhoots, and they topple down. Others are like prisms or pyramids, and are nicely settled down - whatever level you raise them, they are stuck on (830723.1)

Those on the periphery are a problem - we have to see that they are brought in properly, so that they don't go out of Sahaja Yoga. Everybody must come up to the minimum standards at least - otherwise many will be sieved out (830723.1); In Sahaja Yoga we have all kinds. Some who are very great and who try to achieve a state of untarnishability, put their attention to it and try to work it out. But also we have others, who are absolutely useless things, just hanging on for their own popularity, or for their own gains (860706)
